

Established in 1992, Earthly Ideas is a respected green building consulting firm. We are dedicated to supporting project teams with precise and state-of-the-art resources needed to produce high performance facilities. Building owners, developers, design firms, and construction managers hire Earthly Ideas LLC to influence the design, renovation, construction, and operation of commercial, institutional, and industrial buildings.

To guide our clients, we apply our unparalleled technical knowledge of sustainable design to collaboratively identify the most beneficial opportunities. We then utilize our exceptional organizational skills and project management competencies of facilitation, effective communication, thorough research, and meticulous attention to detail to help teams plan and implement sustainable solutions including LEED® criteria. We have experience in a diversity of building types; for our portfolio of selected projects, please visit our website.

Our Managing Principal, Michelle Reott, LEED AP® BD+C, ID+C, O+M, has successfully assisted over seven dozen sustainability projects/clients nationwide including thirty buildings that have achieved or are seeking LEED certification. Clients have said she “is the best at LEED consulting we’ve ever worked with,” “is detailed, thorough, and accurate,” and “exceeded their expectations.” In 2016, Green Business Certification Inc. recognized this excellence by designating Earthly Ideas as a LEED® Proven Provider™ for the LEED BD+C rating system family.

We efficiently deliver innovative approaches to project teams in the areas of:

Sustainable Design and Construction Consulting

- Establishing quantifiable goals for green building
- Serving as the sustainability information resource to design and construction teams
- Reviewing plans, specifications, and submittals for integration of sustainable strategies
- Researching sustainable materials, products, and construction methods
- Managing the integrated design process

Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Project Management

- Employing LEED® green building rating systems as a general framework or in pursuit of third-party verified LEED certification
- Providing tools and resources to assist with LEED documentation
- Administering LEED certification applications to Green Business Certification Inc. (GBCI)

Facilitation and Training

- Educating interested parties through informational presentations, workshops, webinars, and charrettes on high performance building

Earthly Ideas can also help you meet your project’s DBE/WBE/SBE goals. We are a DBE with the Colorado Unified Certification Program; a WBE and SBE with the City and County of Denver; and an EDWOSB with the Federal Government.
